

We need your help

Calling all allotment growers and vegetable and fruit gardeners

We have created a Growing Communities Network . Please take a minute to read about our Network by clicking this link Please look at the interactive map.

Our focus on creating community growing spaces and planting community and school orchards serves an environmental purpose by improving biodiversity and creating sustainable local food networks. We have just started linking community growers with our network and are now reaching out to allotment holders and vegetable and fruit gardeners to become what we are calling a Community Partner

What is the purpose of the network and how can I help?

Can you spare some surplus ? Our volunteers will pick it up on a day of your choice and it will support local community kitchens, food clubs and food banks. Some of you may already do this but by working together as a community we can deliver large amounts of fresh healthy food to those that need it most in within our community. Become a community partner and support our Growing Communities Network

If you can spare some produce then please click this link or give us a call on 0378 323380
